

found out that they tried to admit him to three hospitals but later took him back home," said local councillor Anindya Chatterjee.

Cops said they had sent the body for post-mortem \(https://timesofindia.indiatimes.com/topic/post-mortem\).

At Sukantanagar, also under Bidhannagar civic body, a 70-year-old former Reserve Bank of India official, who used to live alone at his flat, was found dead in his bathroom. His body, too, had started decomposing, with cops suspecting he died at least 36 hours ago. Police said Narayan Chandra Mondal was a divorcee and lived alone, while his daughter lived abroad. His brother, who lives in Habra, last spoke to him on March 30 and could not contact him since then. The brother had asked the domestic help, who had stopped coming to work since the lockdown, to check on him.

"The help came to the flat but found it locked from inside. Alerted by locals, we broke open the door to find the man lying dead in the bathroom," said a senior Bidhannagar city police officer.
